Welcome to the eighth edition of Philanthropy magazine!

"Philanthropy" magazine remains a vital source of information tracking the progress of philanthropic activities in Albania.

Partners Albania continues its work by monitoring monthly philanthropic activities in the country through media and online platforms, offering a comprehensive and detailed overview of the philanthropic landscape in Albania. In this edition, you will find facts and data about philanthropic activities in the country for the first half of 2024.

The Giving Circle Albania comes to public attention with the announcement of its sixth Call for Applications, inviting civil society organizations to bring sustainable changes to vulnerable communities. In this edition, we also present the results of the work done by CSOs supported by the Giving Circle event, 2023.
"Philanthropy Week 2024", held in April, featured a series of activities aimed at raising awareness, promoting engagement, and encouraging public debate especially among youth, on the importance of philanthropy for societal development.

Smile.al, the first and only crowdfunding platform in Albania, has announced a Call for Project Proposals targeting non-profit organizations across Albania. The call is open until August 30, 2024. During this period, three new community initiatives were announced on the platform, and you will be introduced with them in this edition.

In this publication, we are pleased to introduce Klint Collaku, a young artist who, through music and artistic activities, has provided support to children with disabilities.

Campaigns to support vulnerable groups continue to be a focus of this edition.

Partners Albania, in its efforts to promote philanthropic activities, has also been focusing on raising awareness and educating the public about Community Foundations. In this edition, you will learn about some of PA’s recent efforts in this regard.

The remaining two initiatives successfully completed their activities with the support generated during the event.

PHIANTHROPY WEEK
#bringChange
During April 15 - 19, 2022, was organised the "Philanthropy Week 2024". A series of activities were organised to increase awareness, promotion, engagement, and public debate, especially among young people, on importance of philanthropic activity in the country.
During the “Philanthropy Week”, two open lectures were organized for first-year students at the Faculty of Economics, University of Tirana, and the European University of Tirana. The theme of these lectures was “The Social and Economic Impact of Philanthropic Activities in Albania.”

The youngsters were introduced to various philanthropic initiatives and platforms that facilitate donations to communities in need. Although philanthropic activities were a new topic for the students, they showed great interest and expressed their thoughts through questions regarding information dissemination, the importance of individual and corporate donations, and the value philanthropy brings to the development of local communities.
During Philanthropy Week 2024, we had the pleasure of interviewing Ms. Alda Shehu, Director of Retail Segments and Retail/Non-Retail Products Division at Abi Bank. In this interview, Ms. Shehu shared ABI Bank’s experiences and challenges in fulfilling their philanthropic mission, as well as the key projects they are interested in.

From monitoring philanthropic activities in 2023, the American Investment Bank (ABI) emerges as one of the top three donors in Albania. This achievement demonstrates the bank’s commitment to supporting communities across the country. ABI has made a significant impact in addressing community needs through various philanthropic initiatives.

As part of Philanthropy Week, was organized the event “CSO - Business speed dating event”, bringing together around 70 representatives from the business sector and nonprofit organizations from across the country.

This event aimed to strengthen cooperation between the two sectors, contributing to exchange of services and assuring of business support to enhance the sustainable development of the targeted communities from the NPOs. A key feature of the event was a competition of the drawings/paintings, where young activists and young artists from Tirana, Durrësi, Fushë-Kruja, and Bulqiza presented their artworks related to solidarity and philanthropy.

The painting competition brought a fresh and colorful touch to the event, showing off the creativity and commitment of young people in supporting the values of solidarity and philanthropy.
As part of "Philanthropy Week," PA grabbed public attention through a series of social media posts, sharing facts and comparisons about donation trends in the country from 2015 to 2023.

Based on daily monitoring of print, visual, and social media, as well as reports from both public and private institutions since 2015, donations for philanthropic initiatives have been increasing overall.

From 2015 to 2023, donation values have fluctuated significantly. In 2015, donations amounted to 587 million ALL, but subsequently experienced a sharp decline in 2016 and 2017, reaching 186 million and 64 million ALL respectively. However, in 2018, the value increased to 95 million ALL.

Following the natural disaster of the earthquake, the year 2019 marked the highest value of donations, reaching a record of 1,556 billion ALL. This increase was a result of heightened awareness, solidarity, and the use of crowdfunding platforms, which have been increasingly utilized since the natural disaster.

However, in 2020, the value fell again to 104 million ALL due to the economic aftermath of the pandemic. In the following years, donations gradually began to rise again, reaching 265 million ALL in 2021 and 460 million ALL in 2022.

The year 2023, saw another significant increase, with the value of donations reaching 1,278 billion ALL. The group of beneficiaries remains the same over the years, where children and young people with special needs and without parental care are the categories that benefit most from donations.

3 NEW INITIATIVES

Give me a chance to show you my talent!

This initiative aims to create an art class at the 9-year school in the village of Zvezde, Maliq Municipality. In this rural area with limited access to services, the youth of Zvezde seek support to provide materials such as canvases, paints, brushes, pencils, and easels. This will allow them to showcase and further develop their artistic talents. For more information on the initiative click here.

Support to maternities to care for newborns and save lives.

During the neonatal period (the first 0-28 days of life), infants are particularly vulnerable. Despite recent progress in Albania, 7 out of every 1,000 newborns still do not survive. UNICEF, in partnership with Credins Foundations, will provide incubators and other equipment to several maternity wards in Albania to assist healthcare staff in saving children's lives. They will supply 10 incubators for infants in need of specialized medical care and 1 Bubble CPAP device to support the breathing of sick newborns in maternity wards. For more information on the initiative click here.

Let us take care that loneliness will not create more wrinkles to our soul, than our face.

Elderly individuals often spend most of their time at home, leading to physical and mental health declines due to isolation. This initiative aims to improve the psychosocial well-being of the elderly in Korça by developing and expanding the operations of four daily centers. These centers will offer diverse activities and services, providing opportunities for the elderly to meet, socialize, and entertain themselves in suitable environments. The centers will also organize excursions and birthday celebrations for 200 elderly individuals. For more information on the initiative click here.
INTERVIEWS WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF PHILANTHROPIC INITIATIVES IN THE COUNTRY
Support for children with different abilities
Klint Collaku gained widespread recognition at a young age when he impressed audiences on the show "Gjeniu i Vogël" with his remarkable interpretations of songs such as "Makina e Memories," "Belle," and "Sytë e Tu." His success on this show was just the beginning, as his triumph in "The Voice of Albania" propelled him to larger stages and professional musical projects. Beyond his musical talent, Klint uses his talent to support those in need by contributing to the Jonathan Center.
Please can you tell us more about this initiative, the reasons, and motivations behind it?

My initiative focuses on supporting children and young people with Down Syndrome through various educational, social, and cultural activities aimed at their inclusion and integration into society. The goal is to create a supportive and loving environment for these individuals, offering equal opportunities for development and participation in social life.

Several factors inspired me to undertake this initiative. Firstly, I have always had a deep sense of empathy and commitment to causes related to the rights and well-being of children. My first contact with the young people at the Jonathan Center was a defining moment. I felt an extraordinary love and dedication from them, which made me realize how much I could contribute to improving their lives with ongoing dedication and support.

Additionally, I believe that every individual has unique talents or abilities that can make a positive difference in the world. I decided to channel this belief into creating and developing the initiative “Light for Down,” with the aim of helping children and young people with Down Syndrome feel included, accepted, and loved in our community.

Finally, one of my key motivations is to challenge and dismantle prejudices and stereotypes that exist in society regarding individuals with Down Syndrome. I hope this initiative will serve as an example of what can be achieved when people come together to work towards a common and meaningful purpose.
Activities over the years
#Klint Çollaku
Why this target group?

My initiative focuses on young people with Down Syndrome. While most of my activities have been centered in the capital, Tirana, I have also participated in summer camps outside Tirana where these young people were a significant part of the activities. In these camps, I worked closely with them, offered support, and helped develop activities that fostered their integration and inclusion.

Among the most significant events I’ve been involved in is World Down Syndrome Day, organized by the Jonathan Center, this event is particularly important as it aims to raise awareness and promote the rights and well-being of individuals with Down Syndrome. Additionally, I have supported events like “Night to Shine,” which is dedicated to young people with special needs, not just those with Down Syndrome.

At these events, I assisted with organization, supported participants, and advocated for equality and inclusion. My participation in these activities has been a valuable experience, allowing me to contribute to creating a better environment for young people with Down Syndrome and other special needs. This has further motivated me to continue supporting and working for their cause.
What has been the impact achieved so far by the initiatives?

I prefer not to refer to the impact of my initiative in terms of numbers, as they are not my primary focus and don't capture the essence of my satisfaction. Even with low participation numbers, the personal satisfaction I gain is immense. Instead, I focus on the impact left by these initiatives.

Firstly, I am confident that such organizations and initiatives contribute to shifting the mentality around these causes. The awareness and support for these causes are growing day by day.

Secondly, families of individuals with special needs are increasingly encouraged to involve their children in organizations and specialized institutions. They feel that their children truly belong somewhere and should be treated with the same respect and care as anyone else.

Thirdly, in every initiative, event, or organization where I have volunteered, I have witnessed tears of joy, profound emotions, and a sense of freedom among participants. This is priceless to me. I believe the true purpose of my work is to bring smiles and a sense of belonging to young people with special needs.
For me, supporting these initiatives is a matter of the heart, and my commitment is unwavering. Whenever I have the opportunity to use my voice and support such causes, I am there without hesitation.

I firmly believe that it is our duty as individuals and members of the community to support these causes and assist those in need. I hope that others are inspired and motivated in the same way, contributing to positive change in people's lives.

What are your plans for the future?

Community Foundations are non-profit organizations that mobilize local resources to support initiatives and projects addressing community needs. They play a vital role in improving the quality of life for citizens within their communities, promoting philanthropy, and encouraging civil participation.
Efforts Towards the Development of Community Foundations in Albania

Experiences from Europe and beyond have demonstrated that Community Foundations significantly impact communities by empowering them, supporting social and economic development, and fostering a culture of cooperation and solidarity. By fundraising and allocating funds to local projects, these foundations contribute to building a more just and sustainable society.

Appreciating their contribution, but also aiming to present a new model in the country, in recent years, the focus of the work of Partners Albania in the field of promoting philanthropic activity has also focused on increasing awareness and education on community foundations, such as and in their development efforts in the country.

Through various campaigns for information on the operation and role of community foundations, the organization of several meetings with non-profit organizations, informal groups and businesses as well as research, Partners Albania has brought to the attention of the public and institutions, the importance of these foundations as engines of social change and economic.

These activities have helped to create a deeper understanding of the role that community foundations can play in improving the lives of citizens.

Another key aspect of our work has been the support of 4 organizations and informal groups through trainings for the drafting of strategic plans and community mobilization, income generation and the creation of cooperation networks, introducing them to regional and European networks. This support aimed at the first initiatives at the community level, empowering these organizations and improving their abilities to address local challenges and implement projects with impact.

Partners Albania is confident that Albania will soon have a community foundation capable of mobilizing and managing resources transparently and efficiently to address common needs and create innovative solutions for current and future challenges.

Partners Albania invites all non-profit organizations and informal groups interested in this development to express their interest.
NEW STUDIES IN THE FIELD OF PHILANTHROPY
Partners Albania recently published a study titled “Legal and Regulatory Framework of Philanthropic Activities in Albania – A Guide for Protecting Fundraising Activities of NGOs from Money Laundering and Financing of Terrorism.”

This study provides an analysis of the legal and institutional framework concerning fundraising methods related to philanthropic activities, which contributes to the operations and sustainability of non-profit organizations in Albania.

Through detailed analysis, the report aims to provide insight into how laws and sublegal acts regarding philanthropic activities impact fundraising and management of funds for NPOs in Albania. Specifically, the report focuses on fundraising methods through philanthropic activities in this sector.
